

EVENT

AMICCUS-C Western Regional Conference

November 4, 2015

AMICCUS-C Western Regional Conference

Brent Cooper of McLeod Law's Employment Group presents at the AMICCUS-C Western Regional Conference on how to 'Keep the Holiday Cheer and Avoid the Liability: Hosting a Holiday Party for Employees'.

For many employers and employees, the holiday season is a time to rejoice and celebrate the successes of the year. Celebrations are often in the form of an annual holiday party with delicious meals and ample alcohol. Regrettably, during this festive season, management (and their legal advisors) must dredge up the gloomy thoughts of potential liability for an employer-hosted holiday party. This presentation will explore the concept of “employer hosting” and discuss ways in which organizations can protect themselves from potential liability.

AMICCUS-C is the leader in Canada providing professional development for all staff working in support of Canadian Student Associations.